

QUAN BRAY MAD LIB!

Using only the words “Quan” or “Bray” (or any variations), complete the mad-lib!

One fine _____, Bob said to his buddy Dave, “We should go for a ride (24 hours)

on my _____ boat.” Dave said, “That’s a fun idea! We can float (large flotation device)

around in Tampa _____ and play _____ cards.” Before they set (body of water) (Japanese monsters)

out, they drove by the gas station to buy a bag of _____ to snack on.
(type of nuts)

When Bob and Dave arrived at the mouth of the _____, Bob said to Dave, (body of water)

“We need to make sure we _____ the rules. Why, just _____ (adhere to) (24 hours before-
_____), I watched somebody jump off his boat too close to the rocks and he hand)

cracked three _____.” Dave replied, “Good plan. Although, (bones located in the spine)

you’d think that the guy would’ve weighed the pro’s and _____ first. I (negative outcomes)

mean, it’s not like it’s _____ or something!”
(specific branch of natural science)

“You’re right,” said Bob, “and it’s not like you can just buy a new backbone on _____ (an

_____ if you ever find yourself in a _____.” The two online market) (difficult situation)

friends boarded the _____ boat, and Dave played some music on (large flotation device)

his iPhone. Bob said, “Man, why do we have to listen to Pharrell? And what does _____ even mean?” Dave said, “I don’t know, dude, but the girls like him, (boo-thang)

and they look like they could be on _____. But it’s okay. I’ll (Hasselhoff. That’s all.)

just play some _____ instead.” “Well, shoot, Dave. It’s pretty much a (doctor you forgot about)

_____ that I’d almost rather sit through _____ (predicted outcome) (a famous _____ than listen to Pharrell,” said Bob. “Don’t be such a drama ballet forever ruined by Natalie Portman)